20/378 Marlborough Highway Bronte Park TAS

3 1 2

After a lifetime of travel, journalist Charles Wooley is giving up his highland hideaway to move to the beach to bother flathead instead of trout.

In the very heart of Tasmanian fly-fishing country this Bronte Park cottage is a most secluded highland hideaway but with all the mod cons. It comes with mains power, water and sewerage and is set in tree-studded open parkland with well maintained grounds.

The recently renovated three-bedroom house can accommodate six people and comes fully furnished with an induction cook-top, a fan-forced oven, dishwasher and washing machine and dryer. Everything you need including dishes, pots and pans and bedding is included. There is nothing to do but go and catch a trout.
